How we protect information about you

City considers the protection of personal information to be a foundation of customer trust and a sound business practice. We employ physical, electronic and procedural controls and we regularly adapt these controls to respond to changing requirements and advances in technology.

At City, we restrict access to personal information to those who require it to develop, support, offer and deliver products and services to you.

How we share information about you with third parties

City does not share personal information about our customers with unaffiliated third parties for use in marketing their products and services. We may share personal information with the following entities:

Unaffiliated service providers (for example, printing and mailing companies, securities clearinghouses, marketing service providers, and other entities who may provide services at City's direction)

Government agencies, other regulatory bodies and law enforcement officials (for example, for tax purposes or for reporting suspicious transactions)

Other third-parties, with your consent or as directed by your representative (for example, if you use City as a financial reference in applying for credit with another institution or if you use an external aggregation website or service that you have provided permission to access your City financial account on your behalf)

Other organizations as permitted or required by law (for example for fraud prevention or to respond to a subpoena)

Our service providers are obligated to keep the personal information we share with them confidential and use it only to provide services specified by City.

Based on the nature of your relationship with City, we may exchange information with other third parties as described below:

If City provides workplace services to your employer or sponsor, such as human resources or training services, City may exchange any information received in connection with such services with your employer or sponsor or others they may authorize.

If you conduct business with City through your agent, we may exchange information we collect with your agent or with others they may authorize.

How we share information about you within City Equipment

We may share personal information about you with various City corporate affiliates including internal service providers which perform, for example, printing, mailing, and data processing services.

Additionally, if you interact with City directly as an individual (including joint account holders) or if City provides services to your employer or sponsor, we may exchange certain information about you with City with our companies, for their use in marketing products and services as allowed by law.

Information collected from agents' customers is not shared with City affiliates for marketing purposes, except with your consent and as allowed by law.

Your digital privacy

Privacy, security, and service in City's online operations are just as critical as in the rest of our business. We use firewall barriers, encryption techniques, and authentication procedures, among other controls, to maintain the security of your online session and to protect City accounts and systems from unauthorized access.

When you use our digital offerings, we may collect technical and navigational and location information, such as device type, browser type, Internet protocol address, pages visited, and average time spent on our digital offerings. We use this information for a variety of purposes, such as maintaining the security of your session, facilitating site navigation, improving City website design and functionality, and personalizing your experience. Additionally, the following policies and practices apply when you are online.

Cookies and similar technologies

City and our third-party service providers may use cookies and similar technologies to support the operation of our digital offerings. Cookies are small amounts of data that a website or online service exchanges with a web browser or application on a visitor's device (for example, computer, tablet, or mobile phone). Cookies help us to collect information about users of our digital offerings, including date and time of visits, pages viewed, amount of time spent using our digital offerings, or general information about the device used to access our digital offerings. City cookies are also used for security purposes and to personalize your experience, such as customizing your screen layout.

You can refuse or delete cookies. Most browsers and mobile devices offer their own settings to manage cookies. If you refuse a cookie, or if you delete cookies from your device, you may experience some inconvenience in your use of our digital offerings. For example, you may not be able to sign in and access your account, or we may not be able to recognize you, your device, or your online preferences.

Both City and third-party service providers we hire may use cookies and other technologies, such as web beacons, pixel tags, or mobile device ID, in online advertising as described below.

Advertising on City Equipment Digital Offerings

These service providers may collect information about your activity on City digital offerings using cookies and other technologies to analyze, for example, pages visited, search engine referrals, browsing patterns, and responses to advertisements and promotions. Such service providers may only collect and use such information for purposes specified by City and not for their own purposes.

Advertising on Non-City Equipment Digital Offerings

City also advertises our products and services on digital offerings not affiliated with City and we contract with third-party advertising companies to display these ads. These third-party advertising companies may use cookies and similar technologies to collect technical and web navigational information, such as device type, browser type, Internet protocol address, and pages visited.

City and these third-party online advertising companies may use the data collected, along with other information we have about you and your City relationships, to serve relevant ads to you.
